WORLD'S GREATEST EVANGELIST COMING HERE ON MONDAY

BILLY SUNDAY

Liberty Warehouse Will Be Filled With People Anxious To Hear This Preacher—Steamer Runs Excursion.

All reports to the contrary, Billy Sunday, the world's greatest evangelist, will speak at the Liberty warehouse Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock to what will probably be one of the greatest audiences ever addressed by a man in this city.

Mr. George H. Frank received a telegram late Friday assuring him that Mr. Sunday and his force would arrive in Maysville Monday on the noon train. All details have been carefully worked out by committees and everything is in readiness. The warehouse has been properly arranged and approximately eight to ten thousand people will be enabled to hear Mr. Sunday speak.

Announcement was made this morning that the steamer Homer Smith will run an excursion from Portsmouth to Maysville Monday bringing about 1,500 Portsmouth people who were converted at Billy Sunday's revival held in that city several years ago. This boat expects to arrive in Maysville by noon and will return immediately after the Sunday meeting.

The doors of the warehouse will not be opened to the people until noon and no space will be reserved except for members of the reception committee who will meet Mr. Sunday at the train. There will be a liberal section of the warehouse reserved for colored people who will be made quite welcome to the meeting. The Boys' Band will begin their concert at 12:30 o'clock and play until Mr. Rodeheaver takes charge for a short song service.

Arrangements are being made to handle one of the largest crowds Maysville has ever seen. People will be quite welcome to our city and the merchants will be glad to entertain them during the morning at their places of business.

There is no charge for admission but an offering will be taken by the following committee in charge of Colonel J. Barbour Russell, chairman of the "Tin Pan Committee":

W. J. Caplinger, R. A. Cochran, T. M. Russell, Stanley F. Reed, LeWright Browning, Clarence Mathews, C. S. Kirk, H. C. Curran, W. T. Berry, N. S. Calhoun, J. F. Rice, T. D. Buckley, Joseph Simons, Jas. B. Wood, Jno. I. Claybrooke, C. K. Daulton, G. J. Murphy, J. Ed Parker, Clint Calvert, Jno. R. Downing, John Walsh, Carr Politt, James Dawson, J. B. Purling, Bruce Snapp, Geo. N. Harding, R. G. Knox, Mike Brown, George W. Royle, and A. S. Clark. In the colored people's section: W. H. Humphrey, J. M. Hayden and R. Jackson.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF EBENEZER PRESBYTERY AT LEXINGTON

Young People of Two Presbyteries Hold Big Session in Lexington Today—Pageant Presented.

Four hundred young people from Paris, Carlisle, Maysville, Augusta, Covington, Millersburg, in the Ebenezer Presbytery, of the Presbyterian church are expected to be in Lexington today to attend a joint conference at the First Presbyterian church, with young people of Winchester, Nicholasville, Lexington and other cities in the Lexington Presbytery. This is one of five sectional rallies being held throughout the state.

A pageant, "The Striking of America's Hour," will be presented by 150 young people of the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The central figure is the spirit of "Brotherhood" supported by "Liberty" and "Justice." Before these three the nations of the past are summoned for judgment. Last of all, America is called before the judgment seat. An indictment is brought against her by the three judges in the name of Labor, Illiteracy, Poverty and Child Labor. The pleas of foreign lands for life and light are heard, and Liberty speaks to America and warns her to let conscience repeat in her ears the great chords intoned by the multitudes, which in every language spoken today, are sounding forth "The Striking of America's Hour."

COUNTY FAIR PROVES TO BE BIG PICTURE.

There was a good audience at the Washington Theater last night to see the big feature picture, "The County Fair," an old and very popular story presented in film for the first time. It was very pleasing and those who saw it are praising its worth. This picture will be repeated at the Gem this evening.

COLORADO BOY FINED ON THEFT CHARGE.

The indictment against Charles Franklin, colored, charging him with grand larceny, was reduced by the jury in the Mason Circuit Court late yesterday to the charge of carrying away personal property of another and he was fined $50 and costs. Being unable to pay his fine, Franklin will serve out the time in the county jail.

PLEASED WITH INSTITUTES.

The people of the Retortville and Mayslick neighborhood who attended the free farmers' institutes held at these places this week and were very much pleased with the splendid programs rendered. The folks who were so greatly benefitted by the institutes thank Mr. James Speed for suggesting and promoting these institutes to such a successful end.

FIRST EXCURSION SUNDAY.

Many local people are planning to spend Sunday in Cincinnati taking advantage of the first Sunday excursion of the season on the C. & O. railroad. The excursion is quite attractive to local people in that it will be a fast train instead of an accommodation. There will be but one stop between Maysville and Cincinnati and that will be at Augusta.

BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED AT SCHOOLS SUNDAY.

Sunday is another big day in the Sunday school campaign and a good attendance is expected at all of the local schools. Students are expected to invite their friends to attend, it being Friends' Day. Other plans for the celebration of next Sunday in the campaign are to be made.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE.

J. Barbour Russell, Jr., entertained quite a number of his friends Friday night with a dance at Neptune hall which proved to be one of the most delightful events of the year. There were several out-of-town people in attendance.

GOVERNMENT TO GIVE VETERANS HEADSTONES

Grave Markers Will Be Sent Free to Graves of All Soldiers By The Government.

Headstones for graves of former soldiers will be furnished by the Government, according to a communication received from the War Department by the Kentucky Red Cross Home Service.

It was announced that a headstone will be allotted for the grave of every soldier buried in a city or national cemetery.

In the case of a national cemetery the Government bears the expense for the erection of the stone, but where a soldier is buried in a city or private cemetery the Government will furnish the stone and will send it prepaid to the freight yard of the city.

ACTION AGAINST KENTON ROADHOUSES.

"Action should be taken against roadhouses that remain open all hours of the night and charge high prices. Roadhouses of this class are disreputable places. Some of them sell liquor that smells like gasoline or benzine and others sell Jamaica ginger. Action should also be taken against drunken speeders."

The foregoing statement was made by Dr. David W. Stephens, Kenton county Coroner, Friday morning to a Coroner's jury investigating the auto accident of Wednesday morning, in which four lives were lost at a Covington street crossing of the C. & O. railroad.

HARRISON HITT DIES IN LEWIS.

Harrison Hitt, a native of Mason county and who resided in the Hillville neighborhood, this county many years ago, and who subsequently located in Lewis county, died several weeks ago at Poplar Flat, in that county, aged 88 years. He was a brother of John S. Hitt of Mt. Olivet, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bradley of near Blue Lick Springs, in Nicholas county.—Mr. Olivet Democrat.

WILL CASE EXPECTED TO OCCUPY COURT NEXT WEEK.

The Sphar will case is set for trial next Monday in Circuit Court and it is expected that this case will occupy much of the time of the court during the week as there are many witnesses and the case will likely prove quite complicated and hard fought.

BASEBALL SEASON IS OPENED TODAY DESPITE WEATHER

Cincinnati Club Arrives and Maysville Plays Despite the Rain of this Morning—Great Interest Taken.

Despite the very disagreeable morning, the Maysville baseball club opened the season this afternoon as scheduled with the Cincinnati Club, of Norwood, Ohio. An effort was made to cancel the game but the team had left Cincinnati and they arrived here this morning ready to try it out in the mud.

Considerable interest is manifest in baseball this year. The members of the local team are making quite a sacrifice to make baseball a success in Maysville and it appears that the local businessmen and baseball fans are willing to back them with good support. Already the team has been liberally financed by the business men and a number of people who braved the threatening weather to attend the first game, shows that there is yet much interest in the game.

Tomorrow, the Weather Man permitting, these teams will play again and as it is the first Sunday game of the year, there is no question about there being a splendid crowd of fans in attendance.

FARM TARIFF PASSES HOUSE UNAMENDED

Bill Vetted By Former President Wilson Passes House As It Comes From Senate.

Washington, April 16.—Unamended, the emergency tariff bill combining the farmers' tariff measure, vetoed by President Woodrow Wilson, with the anti-dumping bill, was passed in the House late Friday by a vote of 269 to 112.

Despite strenuous efforts by the Democrats to divide the large Republican majority by a cry of sectionalism, the first House legislative act of the special session was accomplished by an almost united Republican vote.

There was little real interest manifested in the two day's debate. With the exception of the exchange valuation section the bill had been thoroughly discussed in the last session and the speeches for the most part were directed against the section which aims to correct the difference of exchange rates or were partisan in character.

Most of the day was devoted to political efforts on the part of the Democrats to make their position clear for the November election next year and to break the Republican party into factions.

EASTERN STAR INITIATES.

The Maysville Chapter Eastern Star held a very interesting meeting at the Masonic Temple last night at which time a class of nine were initiated and following the meeting a social session was enjoyed by the many in attendance.

LOCAL MASONS TO VISIT SARDIS LODGE.

The Sardis lodge of Masons will initiate a large class this evening and several local Masons are planning to attend the meeting, and assist in the work.

Miss Mable Pollitt, an instructor at Kentucky University, passed through Maysville today en route to Vaneburg to visit relatives.

MANY KILLED IN A TORNADO FRIDAY NIGHT

Death Toll of Tornado in Arkansas and Texas Is Now Fixed At Over Thirty Persons.

Little Rock, Ark., April 16. — A rapidly-mounting death list that is expected to exceed fifty, dozens of persons injured and stupendous property damage are results of a tornado that cut a wide path across Miller and Hempstead counties, Arkansas, and Cass county, Texas, Friday night.

Because of paralysis of wire communication, several days may elapse before the full extent of the damage is known. In the rural section of Upper Miller county near Texarkana alone, eleven persons are known to have been killed and a large number injured. Near Hope, in Hempstead county twenty persons were killed and scores injured.

In Texas the damage was in the vicinity of O'Farrell, a thickly settled farming community west of Atlanta. Eleven bodies had been brought into Texarkana early today, it was reported. Four bodies had been taken to Hope. Early newspaper estimates there placed the number of dead at thirty-nine.

BIG CROWD COMING FROM PORTSMOUTH.

Mr. George H. Frank at noon received this telegram from Portsmouth:

"Everyone enthused. Will arrive Monday at 1 o'clock. Everyone working hard to have large crowd. If good weather, one thousand and more if possible. Please reserve room; returning at 6. It is advertised; and announced in all churches Sunday. Would suggest you have band there if possible. DAVE WILLIAMS."

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

OUR CONSCIENCE IS OUR GUIDE.

Discussing the unratified treaty of alliance between Great Britain, France and the United States which pledged this county to go to the aid of France if she is again attacked without provocation by Germany, the Philadelphia Public Ledger says:

"In the event of another German invasion of France, there is little doubt that both the United States and England would be drawn into the struggle. There would not be the delay for this country that there was between 1914 and 1917. If there is to be American responsibility at that time, why should we not make it clear now, that if the German ever hurls his masses across the Rhine, we stand ready to help throw them back once more?"

On its face, the plea of the Ledger is a very plausible one but there are one or two view-points which are not mentioned by this advocate of entangling alliances but which will appeal strongly to the American mind when they are once fairly considered.

In the first place it is nearly always a question admitting of doubt whether an attack is without provocation. If Germany should invade France she would assert that France had committed some acts or threatened to commit acts which justified her in making the attack. On the other hand no matter how guilty France might be of provocative acts she would claim that she was being attacked without provocation. If the United States bound herself to go to the assistance of France in case of an attack without justification this country would subject itself to the probability of being accused of breaking faith with France if it should be deemed that France had been the aggressor.

The only wise course for the United States to pursue is that clearly and directly set forth by President Harding in his inaugural address wherein he said, "We do not mean to be entangled. We will accept no responsibility except as our own conscience and judgment in each instance may determine." There is no need for a treaty in order to assure the French people of the good will and lasting friendship of the United States. In case of war between France and Germany or between France and any other country, probably the sympathies of the great majority of Americans would be with France.

As President Harding also said, "Our eyes never will be blinded to a developing menace; our ears never deaf to the call of civilization, but America—our America, the America builded on the foundations laid by the inspired fathers—can be a party to no permanent military alliance."

As everybody knows, the Public Ledger was a vigorous and consistent advocate of ratification of the treaty with the League of Nations covenant incorporated in its provisions. Even since it became apparent that the treaty could not be ratified in the form in which it was presented by President Wilson the Philadelphia Public Ledger has continued its agitation in favor of participation of the United States in European affairs. Its latest utterance above quoted has that purpose in view. It is strange indeed that a paper so ably edited is unable to understand the sentiment of the American people as recorded last November by a plurality that exceeded 7,000,000 votes.

A LAND OF VAST RICHES.

Kentucky long has been known, within its own borders and throughout the outside world, as a state of great productive powers. The fertility of its soil and the extent of its natural wealth have made of it an Eldorado. Since early days in the state's history its sons have harvested from the surface of the earth a bountiful supply of golden grain. The white burley of Central Kentucky and the dark weed of the Black Patch have made the name of the Commonwealth known in all parts of the world. Its bluegrass is distinctive. More recently, however, the development of the wealth which lies under the surface has been undertaken with greater force. Coal and oil join with the other products which make Kentucky famous and prosperous.

The development of the natural resources of Kentucky, however, has not yet reached anything like its possible proportions. An indication of what yet may be done toward bringing into play the full power of the state's wealth is given in an address delivered Thursday night, before members of the Maxwell Street Community Club by S. C. Crouse, professor of metallurgy of the College of Engineering, University of Kentucky.

Professor Crouse declares that in the oil shale beds of Kentucky lay "The greatest potentiality Kentucky has and will probably in the future be worth more to the state than any other resources, coal mines not excepted."

This is great optimism. Yet those who know Professor Crouse know he is not of the type given to exaggeration. He has made definite investigation and examination of the value of Kentucky shale, the methods of mining it and the demand for its products.

In Kentucky the shale beds, fortunately, are close to the surface of the ground, making mining less difficult than in other places. The shale industry is scarcely an infant, yet it gives great promise. With this added to the other great sources of wealth, surely Kentucky can say, "My cup runneth over."—Lexington Herald.

CONSTRUCTION IN SOUTHLAND SHOWS SOME IMPROVEMENT

Increase is Shown in Construction in Comparison With Two Weeks Ago.

Baltimore, Md. — Approximately $29,503,599 is the amount of money involved in the weekly summary on contracts awarded and initial announcements regarding construction projects on which the work will be under way in the near future and for which contracts are to be awarded shortly, as reported in the construction columns of the Manufacturers Record for the week ended April 1. This total compares with that of $31,781,582 for the preceding week and $25,556 for the week before that.

The contracts actually awarded during the week involve a total estimated expenditure of $4,746,530. The contracts to be awarded will mean the 757,069, which includes a contemplated land development at North Augusta, Ga., tentative plans calling for the erection of a modern hotel, establishment of a tourist colony and a motion picture center, provision for additional hydro-electric facilities and the utilization of about 5,000 acres of land, at a total estimated cost of over $5,000,000. Plans are being perfected for improvements and enlargements at the new power plant of the Kansas City Light & Power Co., Kansas City, Mo., which will involve an expenditure of approximately $3,000,000, including the installation of new generating and boiler-room equipment and extensions.

Contracts awarded for school buildings amounted to a total investment of $1,311,000, compared with $933,437 for the preceding week. Apartment-houses and hotel for which contracts have just been awarded will necessitate the expenditure of about $605,000, while such projects during the preceding week involved the expenditure of $589,000. Store buildings for which contracts were awarded have a total valuation of $255,000, compared with $52,000 for the week ended March 25.

There was an appreciable decline in contracts awarded for projects under other classifications, especially of roads, paving and bridge work, and sewers, drainage and water-works and work to be awarded on and about April 1, and the large amount that was involved in the contracts awarded on March 15 and nearby dates, and the slackening in activities during the Easter holidays.

Plans were announced for a new Y. M. C. A. Building to be erected at New Orleans, La., at a cost of $1,000,000. A site has already been purchased and old buildings are being razed for the new building, which will have a front-

Points the Way to Comfort and Health. Other Women Please Read

Moundsville, W. Va.—"I had taken doctor's medicine for nearly two years because my periods were irregular, came every two weeks, and I would suffer with bearing-down pains. A lady told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how much good it had done her daughter, so I took it and now I am regular every month and have no pain at all. I recommend your medicine to everyone and you may publish my testimonial, hoping that the Vegetable Compound does some other girl the good it has done me."—Mrs. GEORGE TEGARDEN, 915 Third Street, Moundsville, W. Va.

How many young girls suffer as Mrs. Tegarden did and do not know where to turn for advice or help. They often are obliged to earn their living by toiling day in and day out no matter how hard the pain they have to bear. Every girl who suffers in this way should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if she does not get prompt relief write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, about her health. Such letters are held in strict confidence.

Plans were announced during the week for a paper plant to be erected at Baltimore by the Gwynns Falls Paper Co., consisting of a reinforced concrete building costing $200,000 and requiring the installation of machinery costing $300,000.

Plans have been approved by the trustees for Greater Mercer University at Macon, Ga., including the erection of a home for the president, main dining hall, science and law buildings, gymnasium, dormitories, and the remodeling of present buildings at an ultimate cost of about $2,500,000. Tentative plans have been provided by Edw. L. Tilton, architect, New York.

Plans have been completed for a large apartment house to be erected in Baltimore at a cost of $1,600,000 for A. T. Carozza, Calvert Building, by F. A. Fletcher, architect. The building will be eight or nine stories high, of steel and concrete construction, with a brick, terra-cotta and marble exterior, and will contain about 500 rooms.

Reports from many sections indicate continued construction activity at an accelerated pace, particularly of dwellings, apartment houses and similar construction. March figures for valuation of building permits issued will probably exceed those of the preceding months by a big amount, and reports indicate that the construction program has as yet made only a good start. It has not even approached a maximum stride. Architects, contractors and builders have in preparation scores of projects which will later extensively swell the construction volume.

VOLSTEAD FOR LANDIS.

Washington. — Impeachment proceedings will not be brought against Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, in the new Congress if Chairman Andrew J. Volstead, of the House Committee on Judiciary, can prevent it. He says: "From a careful consideration of the charges made against Judge Landis and the evidence adduced in their support, I believe the findings are unsupported and the recommendation made in the last Congress for further investigation entirely unjustified. The charge against the judge is that he entered into a certain contract with various baseball associations. The finding that the act of entering upon this contract and of agreeing therein to function as an arbitrator between these baseball associations is inconsistent with a full and adequate performance of the duties of Judge Landis is rather indefinite. If it means that the duties assumed by the judge will take so much of his time and energy as to interfere with his judicial duties, it rests on a mere assumption in support of which there is not the slightest testimony. The judge was first offered a salary of $50,000 a year. He agreed to take $42,500 and give $7,500 to a secretary furnished for the very purpose of relieving the judge from work that might interfere with his judicial duties."

New York Letter

New York. — Such a nice large variety of human tastes there are in the world! And this city caters to them all. Especially when it comes to pets! The other day in the window of a shop in the Hudson Terminal building, I read this sign: "Baby Boa Constructors; One Dollar Each."

One of the most grievous angles that have been developed in the case of "Dorian Hope," the poet whose real name turns out to have been Bret Holland, and who has recently departed for parts unknown leaving behind unhappy haberdashers, publishers, and photographers, is that of the disappointed maids to whom he dedicated poems. There is no use talking, however unsentimental one may be, it is a blow to learn that the yearning lines addressed to one, were in fact written by a member of one's own feminine sex, and just taken over, as it were, by the attractive man whose names was signed. And such seems to be the case. Miss Miriam Veder was surprised to discover just about the time "Hope" disappeared that most of the verses in his volume "Pearls and Pomegranates" were her own which had been previously published under other titles. And among those written by her were all which he had generously dedicated to fair maids of his acquaintance. Hope is said to be right now in Italy getting acquainted with D'Annunzio.

Cotton stockings are still worn. And by whom, do you suppose? Some practical woman executive or hard working policeman. Not for one tick of the clock. By Pavlova, Russian premiere danseuse, and by as many of her Ballet Russe girls as she can influence. And she claims that because her girls are English, the influencing is not impossible. There are two reasons according to the Russian firefly, why she makes her ballet up of them rather than Americans. "One is that American girls' ankles and feet are not heavy and strong enough for Russian dancing and the other is the matter of hosiery. "Silk are the worst possible things for the feet."

By the way, it is rather interesting to observe that most of the world's famous dancers make up a regular "over forty" club. Pavlova, Isadora Duncan, Maude Allen, Genée, and many others.

It is an upside down world. We are sending "English tweeds" to Australia and Paris is sending jazz songs to New York. Truly! Within the last two weeks, the products of this latest French industry have begun to arrive here; and they are the real thing. One of the latest songs from their boulevards is "Paris Qui Jazz," which any member of the A. E. F. will tell you means "Paris which jazzes." And at least half a dozen others have begun to be heard about the environs of Broadway.

Manhattan is wondering if some terrible cataclysm is about to descend upon them; if maybe the Island is going to fall down into its subways or become a victim of subterranean volcano. For its cats are migrating to Brooklyn. Now, everyone knows that cats loathe to change their habitats; they will stay with a house rather than follow a family to a new one. But for some inexplicable reason, this spring is seeing a rapid move of a seemingly large part of the Island's feline population over across the way to Long Island. How they get there no one knows. But that doesn't worry Manhattan as much as WHY. Brooklyn is complaining too. The influx disturbs their sleep, their babies, and their church services, they protest; and they add unkind things about the newly arrived cats not being as well behaved as those which have been brought up in their midst. But the metropolitan island would welcome back even the disturbance to have its perplexity removed.

Freda Julkowska of East Twelfth street, has lost her beau. It is a particularly annoying instance of that not uncommon tragedy because of the fact that it is due to lack of judgment rather than of affection on the beau's part. John Doerski, a waiter, and according to Miss Julkowska a very good one, was so much in love that he threatened suicide if she didn't marry him. Then to prove that he wasn't bluffing, the suicide took place—theoretically, at least. His hat and coat, and a farewell note of passionate affection to his adored one, were found on the Manhattan bridge—following the waiter's disappearance. Now then—Doerski has reappeared, but only at a comparative distance. Miss Julkowska reports that he has been seen many times near her home in the past few days, but that he is afraid to return to his home or to her because his friends will "kid him." So far as she can see, unless he can be persuaded to brace up, it's one beau gone just as much as though he had lived up to that farewell note.

LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

MAN-MADE DISEASES.

Many of the diseases that afflict man may almost be said to be made by him, says the U. S. Public Health Service, for they are spread almost altogether by his disregard of the simplest rules of sanitary living.

Typhoid fever, for instance, is spread by the contamination of water, milk, and food by human filth which has been run into rivers or wells or left exposed to flies to carry to the kitchen or dining room, or which even more disgustingly, is carried to food directly from soiled hands.

Hookworm disease and other intestinal diseases are spread, to some extent at least, by the states which allow road-building gangs to work under conditions which too often compel them to scatter pollution to be carried by flies to their own kitchens or to be ground into the soil to be picked up by the bare feet of children. Practically all hookworm disease is due to soil pollution.

Malaria, too, is often spread by the ignorance and carelessness with which the mosquito-breeding places are created or disregarded. Borrow pits, dug to obtain stone for road work and other needs and left to fill with water furnish homes for thousands of wigglers, culverts improperly placed produce pools that are equally prolific; ditches that are clogged and never cleared out are popular and populous; railroad and other embankments that stop or check the flow of water create conditions that are ideal—from the mosquito point of view.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, health officer of Georgia, has suggested that the convict and other gangs who work along the roads be required to fill up borrow-pits, place culverts properly, clean ditches, and attend to other small but important details that any man can do and that will deprive the mosquito of many of her breeding places.

To accomplish this along the roads is more important than it may seem, for a mosquito hatched at the roadside does not have to wander in search of food; all she has to do is to wait for food to come to her. Moreover, if she is of the anopheline species, which spreads malaria, she has excellent chances both to acquire the malaria germs and to pass them along. Until she bites someone who has the disease, her bite, though no more pleasant than that of any other mosquito, is not any more dangerous. But a single malaria patient, driving along a ditch-bordered, mosquito-infested road, may provide hundreds of the insect with germs which they may pass on to every traveler along that road.

Dr. Abercrombie, by making the roads of Georgia safe for man, may materially reduce the malaria hazard of the state, and, according to the Public Health Service, his example deserves to be followed.

DR. WINNES FREED OF MURDER CHARGE; KILLS INDICTMENT

Prosecuting Attorney Moves to Dismiss Case Against Veterinarian Charged With Miss Parsons' Murder.

The indictment against Dr. H. C. Winnes, the veterinarian, charged with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, the school teacher at Pine Mountain Settlement school, was dismissed Friday on motion of the Commonwealth's Attorney, says a dispatch from Harlan.

Dr. Winnes' first trial started February 22 last and the jury, which stood eleven to one for acquittal was dismissed on February 4. Since that time he has been free on $5,000 bond furnished by his attorneys and friends in Harlan.

The fight to convict Dr. Winnes, has been led by Mrs. Ethel Zande, one of the executive heads of the Pine Mountain School. Through women's clubs and a few newspapers, funds were raised to pay detectives and to hire a Floyd Byrd, of Lexington, as special prosecutor. Dr. Winnes' friends in Jenkins, Ky.; Cincinnati and throughout the state have been active in his behalf raising funds to pay for attorneys and to defend him.

Dr. Winnes became involved in the case through a peculiar string of circumstances. The entire evidence at the previous hearing was circumstantial. He had been sent to the school from the office of the state veterinarian in Frankfort to make tuberculosis tests on the cattle at the institution. He arrived at Dillon, Ky., on the same train that Miss Parsons took from her home at Berea, Ky., where she had been to visit her father, Walter Parsons.

When Dr. Winnes arrived at Dillon, it was testified at the first trial, the man who was to have met him and escorted him across the mountain, was unable to go because of illness in his family. Evidence was introduced to show that the school officials had written the state veterinarian that a man would meet the veterinarian sent and escort him across the mountain.

The accused man went into Hamp Lewis' store at Dillon and then to the house of the merchant to get a drink of water. It was testified that while in the store he asked how many cattle were at the school and Miss Parsons, who was present, answered. Learning that she was a teacher at the school and that she did not have a mule—the usual mode of transportation in the mountains—Dr. Winnes offered to hire one for her. She declined, saying that "others have walked across and I can too."

Miss Parsons left Dillon in advance of Dr. Winnes. She walked up the railroad track to the Pine Mountain trail, turned into it and last was seen alive as she passed a state convict camp where negroes working on the Pine Mountain road were housed. Her body was found two days later several hundred yards above the convict camp.

The question of the difference in time between the departure of Miss Parsons and Dr. Winnes from Dillon figured extensively in the case. It was claimed by the state that Dr. Winnes left only a few minutes behind the woman. The defense claimed that the difference was at least three quarters of an hour and probably longer. Testimony of a number of witnesses was given to show this difference claimed by the defense, while others testified for the state that they saw both Miss Parsons and Dr. Winnes within a short time going along the railroad track.

The defense endeavored to show that convicts at the camp had a chance to commit the crime. The state combatted this theory from every angle and introduced evidence intended to account for the whereabouts of the negroes during the period around noon of the day of the crime, when it is supposed to have been committed. Inmates of the camp and guards testified to seeing Miss Parsons pass. This was the last time she was seen alive except by the slayer.

Sometime later Dr. Winnes passed the camp and finally wound up at the air compressor, where Jerry Reed, a convict, and tender of the compressor, told him he was off the trail and put him on the right one.

WOMEN'S WOES
Maysville Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. L. Cullen, 322 West Second street, Maysville, says: "Three years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back ached continually. I had no ambition to do my housework and everything seemed a drag to me while going about it. I had blinding, dizzy spells and my head ached all the time. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I sent to Wood & Son's drug store and got a box. After using them I got over the trouble entirely and have never since been bothered. I willingly recommend this remedy."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cullen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Cullen, Buffalo, N. Y.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
APRIL 17, 1921.

Topic: Bible Teachings, About Work. Mark 6:1-3; John 5:17; 2 Thes. 3:7-10; Deut. 24:14-15; James 5:14-5.

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

The labor problem is the greatest subject before the world today. It affects the entire body of society. It has assumed immense proportions. Capital and labor are as closely related as husband and wife, and this controversy is of a truly domestic character. Like all family quarrels it is disastrous to all concerned. Mutual interests are involved in this contest as in the home, and until this fact is recognized there can be no real, satisfactory adjustment. Each must regard the rights and the interests of the other in order to bring about an equitable settlement. The New Testament furnished the basis of a just agreement. It is found in the golden rule—"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

As to the Bible teachings about work, which is the topic of this lesson, the Book teaches both by precept and example that it is the duty of every human being to work at some useful employment. Paul wrote "If any will not work, neither shall he eat." Paul exhorted: "Labor, working with your hands that ye may have to give to him that lacks." As for examples: Jesus was a carpenter; Paul was a tent-maker; four of the disciples were fishermen; Matthew was a tax collector. The truth is God put Adam to work as soon as he was created "to dress and keep the garden," so work is not a curse, as some teach, for it was imposed on man when he was innocent. The curse was upon the soil, so that "in the sweat of his face he should eat bread." Since the cursed earth should bring forth "thorns and thistles."

Many laboring people have an idea that manual labor is the only labor. Head work is just as much labor as hand work. Professional men labor as hard as those who are "hewers of wood and drawers of water." The managers of the great industries are the hardest of workers.

In the sight of God the work of the man who sweeps the streets is as acceptable as the work of the Mayor. Work is an honor instead of a disgrace. Idleness is disgraceful. The loafer is a nuisance. He is a barnacle on society.

Again, the Bible is explicit as to how the employer should treat the hired man. "Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy. At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it." Deut. 24:14-15. Again, James 5:4-5 reads: "Behold the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth; and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabbath." The oppressor of the hireling is under the curse of heaven. It is a dangerous thing to practice injustice. When the laborer cheats his employer he is under the same curse. The Bible teaches that all are to work, and that each shall deal justly with the other in the matter of wages and service.
